DETAILED ACTION

Applicant's amendment filed 7/18/07 is acknowledged. The pending claims contain multiple inventions. Accordingly, restriction requirement is presented in this action.

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

I. Claims 1-3, 16-31, 51-59 and 81-85 are drawn to a method of managing a plurality of demand accounts which comprises preserving via a manner of making the transfers and/or withdrawals from said single insured money market deposit account the interest-bearing status of the single insured money market deposit account regardless of the number of said transfers and/or withdrawals from said single insured money market deposit account actually made during a period.

II. Claims 32-50, 60-68 and 86 are drawn to a method of managing a plurality of demand accounts which comprises preserving the interest-bearing status of the single insured money market deposit account after more than six (6) transfers and/or withdrawals are made during a month from said single insured money market deposit account.

III. Claims 69-74 and 87 are drawn to a method of managing a plurality of client accounts for multiple clients which comprises making needed deposits to or needed withdrawals/transfers from an FDIC-insured, interest-bearing deposit account by way of an intermediate bank based on aggregated transactions for the plurality of client accounts, wherein the manner of making said withdrawals/transfers from said FDIC insured, interest-bearing deposit account preserves said FDIC-insured, interest-bearing deposit account's interest-bearing status regardless of the number of said withdrawals/transfers actually made during a month.

IV. Claims 75- 80 and 88 are drawn to a method of managing a plurality of client accounts for multiple clients which comprises making needed deposits to or needed withdrawals/transfers from an FDIC-insured, interest-bearing deposit account by way of an intermediate bank, allowing more than six (6) withdrawals/transfers from said deposit account.

Art Unit: 3693

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions I through IV are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct if they do not overlap in scope and are not obvious variants, and if it is shown that at least one subcombination is separately usable. In the instant case,

- subcombination II has separate utility such as preserving the interest-bearing status of a single insured money market account regardless of the number of transfers and/or withdrawals from the single insured money market deposit account. See MPEP § 806.05(d),

- subcombination III has separate utility such as making needed deposits to or needed withdrawals/transfers from an FDIC-insured, interest-bearing deposit account by way of an intermediate bank based on aggregated transactions for the plurality of client accounts. See MPEP § 806.05(d),

- subcombination IV has separate utility such as making needed deposits to or needed withdrawals/transfers from an FDIC-insured, interest-bearing deposit account by way of an intermediate bank, allowing more than six (6) withdrawals/transfers from said deposit account. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

The examiner has required restriction between subcombinations usable together. Where applicant elects a subcombination and claims thereto are subsequently found allowable, any claim(s) depending from or otherwise requiring all the limitations of the allowable subcombination will be examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. See MPEP § 821.04(a). Applicant is advised that if any claim presented in a continuation or divisional application is anticipated by, or includes all the limitations of, a claim that is allowable in the present application, such claim may be subject to provisional statutory and/or nonstatutory double patenting rejections over the claims of the instant application.

3. Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious burden on the examiner if restriction is not required because the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art due to their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

4. Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious burden on the examiner if restriction is not required because the inventions require a different field of search (see MPEP § 808.02), restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

5. The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

6. Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.
